Sir W. Cuthbert-Quilter MP was announced to speak at Castle Camps and, a noisy meeting being anticipated, a policeman was stationed at the entrance so as to allow only electors into the building. On arrival he was received with loud hissing and booing. He said: 'I have come 100 miles today to see you'. (Hissing and 'Go back another hundred'). He attempted to address the meeting, but being frequently interrupted asked 'Will you hear me? A voice: 'We have heard such a lot of rubbish, we want to hear some plain truth now'. 'You will get that from me'. 'You will be the first one who has told the truth then'

Charles Mynott told the court he had gone on the shooting gallery at Castle Camps fair and paid for four shots, one did not go off and he accused the stallholder of trying to 'dish' him out of it. The man struck him in the mouth, knocked him down between two stalls then took a rifle in each hand and fired into the crowd of about 70 people. The stalls then fell over and the whole show wrecked. He did not see if the man took aim as he was on the floor. 06 06 29

The Ram beerhouse, Balsham, had existed previous to 1869, justices heard. There was a taproom, bar, kitchen, living-room and grocer's shop as well as four bedrooms. The back staircase and the stable roof was in bad repair. The tenant did a trade of about a dozen barrels of beer and six dozen bottled ale and stout a week. The population was 780 and there were five other fully-licensed pubs and three beer houses including the Five Ales. The licence was temporarily renewed. also Cherry Tree, Sawston Chequers, Shudy Camps, Bell at Balsham, George & Dragon, Castle Camps, White Hart, Linton. 08 02 07

Castle Camps had an unnecessary number of licensed houses, Magistrates were told. The population of the village was 713 and there were eight licensed houses, being one to each 89 persons. There was only 85 yards between the George and the Cock Inns at Castle Camps and the latter, which was fully licensed, did much more trade. The George should be closed, even the tenant said there was not a living at the house. The magistrates renewed the licence and referred it to the Compensation Committee. 08 02 22

The Castle Inn, a roadside beerhouse at Castle Camps together with a bakehouse and some cottages was sold by auction for £390. 'Apple Tree Cottage' in the centre of the village made £120 but 'Moat Farm House' pleasantly situated by the roadside at Ridgewell comprising a red brick and plastered dwelling with an acre of ground was withdrawn at £495. Twenty-six licensed houses are to close, magistrates decided. They include the Robin Hood at Litlington, Chesterton Long Reach, Swaffham Prior's Uncle Tom's Cabin and the Three Jolly Watermen in Waterbeach Fen. But the Fox in the Wood at Soham and the Cock at Isleham were spared after Police Superintendent Winter failed to appear to give evidence. A lantern lecture organised by the Tariff Reform League at Castle Camps schoolroom was brought to a standstill by children who formed three-parts of the audience. When the speeches began they burst into the singing of the 'Land song'. They were eventually persuaded to be quiet but found something to knock about at the end of the room. Then one started coughing and the rest followed suit. Stamping was the next form of amusement and a number of adults joined in. At last the lecturer refused to go on. 11 03 31 & a

His Majesty the King visited the Hardwick aero camp where he spoke to Colonel S.F. Cody, and inspected his famous biplane. He showed much interest in the position of the propeller, which is behind the pilot and not in front, as in the other biplanes at the camp. The King then commanded Col Cody to make a short exhibition flight. In a few seconds the plane was in the air, making several circuits, flying both high and low before pulling up gracefully within a few yards of the Royal party. The King then inspected the naval biplanes before leaving. Shortly afterwards Mr de Havilland arrived in a biplane from the 'seat of war' – the manoeuvres around Linton 12 09 20e also 20d, photos 20f, g. The Congregational Union heard that. West Wrating chapel had been renovated and a new hall built at Cheveley but the chapel at Reach, built in 1863, needed to be put in repair before it celebrated its jubilee. At Castle Camps the work was becoming increasingly difficult though the pastor has not lost heart after 24 years in the ministry. Chrishall congregations are steadily strengthening, Gt Eversden had celebrated the wedding of the minister and young people continued to meet at the Nixon Hall. The most difficult station was Stetchworth where the spiritual indifference of the people was a great obstacle to progress

1919 06 18

Big gathering of mothers – About 400 members of the Mothers Union in the Camps Rural Deanery assembled at Balsham Rectory. They hailed from Whittlesford, Sawston, Pampisford, Ickleton, Duxford, Castle Camps, Horseheath, Linton, Bartlow and Balsham. They partook of tea, and were addressed by the Bishop of Ely and Mrs. Eager, from the Central Mothers' Union, London. 19 06 18

Tried to Square a Constable. A Castle Camps man, stated to be a dealer, was summoned at Linton court for driving a horse and cart without a light on August 20. He pleaded guilty. A constable stated that when he accosted the defendant, the latter tried to square him. The chairman stated that owing to the defendant's behaviour to the constable he would be fined £1 19 09 10

The question of water supply was becoming more and more serious, Linton RDC was told. In one side of the district there was no water. The ponds were all very low, and the people were drinking out of roadside drains water which was impregnated with decayed vegetable matter. There was no even water enough for cleanliness, and something must be done. But the other side was plentifully supplied. Sawston people would object to paying for Horseheath or Castle Camps. The question was whether they should go on digging wells or whether it was possible to take any other measure which would be more perfect or less expensive

The 300-year-old Cock Inn at Castle Camps was practically destroyed after the roof caught fire near the chimney stack. Although there was a good supply of water from a pond it was impossible to save much of the building. Of the nine rooms only a kitchen and pantry remain. 33 01 24

1933 11 14

When excavating a Saxon burial ground near Castle Camps three skeletons were removed from the graves and placed in crates to be taken to Cambridge. But they were deliberately smashed up overnight. Some form of superstition must have been responsible for this action, said T.C. Lethbridge, "it is too much to explain it as mere mischief". In some graves he had found tiny pots containing face cream or pomade. 33 11 14

1934 09 06

At Castle Camps the population of 505 people depended on a deep well pump and it was very difficult to get water. It took about 170 turns to obtain two gallons from the pump and it was the only drinking water available. The situation has become worse recently because a lot of the shallow wells had dried up. The Parish Council suggested the District Council arrange a water cart three times a week. But they would charge a penny a bucket. 34 09 06

A wages tribunal was told that agriculture in the Isle of Ely was totally different from Cambridgeshire; the soil was more productive, the crops were apt to be heavier, the type of agriculture was more profitable. And yet there was a uniformed rate of wages for workers in both areas. Budgets were considered of families from Castle Camps, Swavesey and March where the father of a family of five earned only 35s 6d a week clear; he'd had no Sunday suit or boots for six years

Mr & Mrs Albert Wenham were married at Castle Camps church in September 1888. He is a native of the village but his bride was born in Helions Bumpstead. They have a family of nine – three sons and six daughters - and 16 grandchildren. He recalled when they had eight children, not one old enough to be at work and his wages as a horse keeper were just fourteen shillings a week. Mrs Wenham then did her share by taking in sewing work for Messrs Gurteen's factory at Haverhill, following the example of a large number of women. 38 09 05a

Market Banns at Linton. Linton market, 10 miles from Cambridge, is said to have been a favourite place for banns and even marriages of East Cambs couples (writes Watchman). Here, for example, is one of the entries in the Linton parish records - "10 January, 1656. Contract published between Richard Lofts, of Abington Parva, widower, and Mary Tilbrooke, of Castle Camps, widow, in this market Three Several Days, this being the last day of 'publishing.'" At the Restoration (1660), when all Acts of the Long Parliament passed after the trouble with the King were expunged from the Statute Book, the children born of these marriages were rendered illegitimate, but later on a special Act was passed to legitimise them.

1944 09 15

Presentation to Minister. The Rev. Wilfred Monk, who had been Minister at the Congregational Church (Castle Camps) since January, 1938, closed his ministry on Sunday, August 27, having accepted a call to be minister of the church at Wethersfield, Essex. At the close of the evening service, Mr. Monk was presented with a wallet of Treasury notes as a token of appreciation and esteem from the members of the church and congregation.

For the past 27 years one of the very active of the militant suffragettes has been living quietly at Castle Camps and has written a book about her experiences in those bygone days called 'Laugh a defiance'. Miss Mary Richardson slashed the famous Rokeby Venus in the National Gallery as a protest against the further imprisonment of their leader Mrs Pankhurst, planted a bomb which practically demolished a new railway station at Birmingham and set fire to a big, uninhabited country house. She served many sentences in Holloway. Yet when she came to settle at Castle Camps & decided to keep ducks 'to provide birds for the tables of the Cambridge colleges', her heart failed her when it came to killing them. In the end there were over three hundred birds.

Two-and-a-half-tons of freshly-picked Victoria plums were destroyed when a fruit lorry from Chiver's farm at Hazelstubb, Haverhill, came into collision with a coal waggon from the Haverhill depot of Moys Ltd. The impact of the crash, near Castle Camps caused the coal waggon's petrol tank to explode, sending both vehicles up in flames. Both drivers scrambled clear in time to escape being burnt. The plums were being taken to the Histon jam-making factory, having been picked that morning.

Four modern bungalows have been erected at Castle Camps for use as almshouses. It is a story of inspiration and generosity which had brought as much happiness to the four aged people who are now comfortably settled to spend the eventide of their lives as it has to the benefactor. Tom Haylock of Moat Farm, a Methodist local preacher and chairman of the parish council built them on a piece of his meadow and said he had always promised himself to do something for the aged people of the village.

Shudy Camps' bright clean, one-roomed school, which houses 20 children, means a lot to the inhabitants. They have a good teacher in Doris Edwards but no mains water supply. Now it may close with the pupils sent to Castle Camps. But with four new council houses and two more being built there will be more children. In these modern days you must have community spirit. Take the school away and what focal point is left? Just the church and the pub. 57 05 13 &a -b

Castle Camps School was packed as over 100 villagers turned up to support the newly-formed Castle Camps and Shudy Camps Residents Association. It was formed so they could air grievances over the way South Cambs RDC used every trick to suppress publication of controversial details about proper and adequate drainage. Bartlow Road council houses have to empty their sewage into an open ditch which could lead to paratyphoid. The parish council chairman should resign. 63 06 01a

Castle Camps residents have written to the Minister of Housing over sanitary arrangements for the village. They say the untapped sewer and diversion of sink waste from council houses contravenes the byelaws and SCRDC have added to the problems 63 07 09a

1963 07 27

Sixty Castle Camps villagers turned out to dig up two council house soakaways which they claim are illegal and contravene bye-laws. They run into an open ditch running through the grass in front of the houses and are dangerous to children. Three weeks ago another soakaway in the garden of a house on Bartlow Road was dug up and South Cambs RDC warned villagers they would be liable for prosecution. A Doctor says "They are shocking and should be dispensed with as soon as possible" 63 07 27

1963 09 26

Castle Camps villagers have won their fight for improved drainage systems for eight council houses in Bartlow Road. They have campaigned for several months and even dug up a number of council-installed soakaways which they claimed were 'illegal'. Now an investigation into the alleged insanitary conditions has recommended a combined drain at the rear of the houses into which sink wastes can be discharged. The existing drains will then be disconnected and stopped up 63 09 26

Six primary schools in Cambridgeshire villages may have to close next year. Schools at Wood Ditton, Kirtling, Chippenham, Horseheath, Quy and Madingley have been shortlisted from a number of schools with less than 75 pupils which the county council feels may no longer be viable for educational or economic reasons. Other schools with few pupils include Ashley (30 pupils), Black Horse Drove (40), Castle Camps (55), Dullingham (30) and Stuntney (40)

Horseheath appears to be a village in decline. In the past year the tiny primary school closed despite a long campaign to save it by the parish council. The 25 children were transferred to Castle Camps. Now the Red Lion pub and the Chequers at nearby Streetly End have shut up because people could not afford to stay out drinking all evening. But Horseheath is hitting back. Last month residents completed the purchase of the school building for use as a village hall, showing their strength of commitment to the community 85 04 24

Horseheath's new village sign was presented by Sir Arthur Marshall and dedicated by the Bishop of Ely in memory of his wife, Lady Rosemary Marshall. Children from Castle Camps school have written stories about 20th century life which have been buried in a time capsule underneath the sign which depicts the 1834 Derby winner, bred and trained at Horseheath Lodge.. Four windows in the 14th century church have also been rebuilt in memory of Lady Marshall, farmer Jack Webb and Thomas Sutton. 89 08 02
